

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Contact: Owen M. Murphy
215.680.0155
omurphy@shredstation.com

SHREDSTATION™ LAUNCHES HOME AND SMALL BUSINESS DOCUMENT AND COMPUTER DESTRUCTION SERVICE

ShredStation Express™ Brings Secure Shredding Pick-Up Service to Bucks and Montgomery Counties

Bensalem, Pa – September 12, 2007 – ShredStation, maker of the document destruction industry’s first self-pay secure deposit station, ShredStation Vaults, has announced that it will be offering a home and small business document and e-media destruction service, ShredStation Express™. The new service allows consumers and small businesses with larger destruction needs (multiple boxes) to place orders online or by phone and schedule the pick-up and destruction of documents, computers and other electronic media.

The service is being offered to residents and businesses in all of Bucks and Montgomery Counties. Pick-ups will be scheduled seven days a week.

“The demand for retail document destruction is growing at an amazing rate,” said Al Villamil, President, ShredStation, Inc. “If you aren’t a big company with ongoing destruction needs, shredding companies have all but ignored you. We wanted to make sure that the needs of the individual consumer and even smaller businesses are being met. Whether it’s when people move into a new home or when people simply realize that they’ve kept their documents long enough, we’re seeing a strong demand for our service –and people really like the added convenience of never having to leave home, not to mention not saying goodbye to their home shredder.”

How ShredStation Express works:

1. A customer places an order and schedules a pick up online at www.shredstation.com or by calling 1-877-SHREDXP.
2. A Certified Destruction Agent will confirm the pick-up day and time and arrive at the designated pick-up site when scheduled.
3. The Agent takes the boxes to a ShredStation Secure Destruction Facility and destroys all materials.
4. The customer receives a Certificate of Destruction via mail or email.

According to the U.S. Attorney General, the following is a list of throwaway household items that can be used to steal one’s identity:

Payroll Reports
Insurance Policy Info
Employment Information
Credit Card Statements
Social Security Numbers
Confidential Letters
Contracts
Tax Records
Medical Records
Drivers License Numbers
Bank Account Data
Debit Card Numbers
Legal Documents
Receipts/Invoices
Canceled Checks
Telephone Numbers
Application for jobs
Bank Reports
Bids & Quotations
Brokerage Reports
Classified Information
Correspondence

"In many cases it is cost prohibitive and impractical to send a 30 foot industrial shredding truck into a residential neighborhood to destroy only a small amount of material," said Robert Johnson, Executive for National Association for Information Destruction (NAID). "As a result, the individual consumer is suffering from a shortage of document destruction options. I'm pleased to see that ShredStation is leading the charge in this unfamiliar territory and answering this consumer demand."

ShredStation Express requires a minimum fee of $59.99 for residential or business pick up service and can handle orders of any number of boxes (prices are based on average box size of 12"h x 12"w x 24"d and a weight of roughly 30lbs.).

The company will also destroy old cell phones and PDAs, desktop computers, laptop computers, DVDs, CDs, tapes, microfilm and other electronic media. Electronic media destruction starts at $9.99. All materials (paper and electronic media) are destroyed to professional standards and recycled.

ShredStation Express is currently serving several markets in Pennsylvania and Connecticut and plans to expand to serve more than 10 states by the second quarter of 2008.

About ShredStation, Inc.

Founded in 2005, ShredStation is a Bensalem, PA based leader in small business and consumer level document destruction and recycling. ShredStation Inc. provides a variety of secure, convenient and affordable services to meet the document destruction needs of consumers – regardless of the amount of material a customer needs to destroy. ShredStation recycles 100 percent of all destroyed material. For more information please visit www.shredstation.com