SHREDSTATION™ EXPANDS EXECUTIVE STAFF

Company Moves Headquarters to Mt. Laurel, New Jersey

Mt. Laurel, NJ – February 6, 2008 – ShredStation, a leading data destruction service company and creator of the ShredStation Vault, the first self-service secure deposit station, has announced that it has appointed Suzanne Kenny to Vice President, ShredStation Express. In this new role, Ms. Kenny will be responsible for leading the development of the franchise division, driving growth and collaborating with franchisees to deliver world-class service to customers with secure data destruction needs. In addition to operationalizing the ShredStation brand, Ms. Kenny's responsibilities will also include the development of strategic relationships with industry partners.

Additionally, ShredStation, has moved its company headquarters to Mt. Laurel, New Jersey. The previous headquarters were in Bensalem, Pennsylvania.

"Our continued growth in each service line is requiring ShredStation to expand not only in the depth of our senior management, but in the size of our office," said Al Villamil, President, ShredStation, Inc. "The past couple of years have brought us considerable opportunity and we need to continue to expand our services and staff to meet demand and expand our geographic footprint."

Ms. Kenny is an alumna of General Electric, Microsoft Corporation, and PricewaterhouseCoopers, with a specialty in assisting corporations to consistently deliver upon their brand promise by operationalizing their customer experience and ensuring service excellence. Ms. Kenny began her career at GE Aerospace in Moorestown, NJ, and moved on to Microsoft Corporation in New York City where she managed major sales and marketing programs for both retail and corporate accounts. Ms. Kenny also held multiple leadership positions in PricewaterhouseCoopers' Global Training Center in Philadelphia. She led enterprise technology and best practices training programs in Sales & Distribution, Materials Management, and E-Commerce for hundreds of global consultants annually. Prior to her role as Vice President of ShredStation Express, Ms. Kenny co-founded the consulting firm Catena Partners, and provided advisory services to senior executives at national luxury retail brands.

Ms. Kenny's appointment comes on the heels of additional executive appointments including Mike Kline, Chief Financial Officer and Owen Murphy, Chief Marketing Officer.
